Organic Vegetable Production

Spring 2015 Course Offering

HORT 4835: 2 Credit Lecture
Mon – Wed 10:10 – 11

HORT 4845: 1 Credit Lab
Mon 2:30 – 5:30
Must enroll in lab

An in-depth study of the science and practice of Organic vegetable production.

- Vegetable production practices, including tillage, cover cropping, rotation, nutrient management, integrated pest management, and post-harvest handling, in accordance with Organic standards.
- Market trends, public perceptions, and social context of Organic.
- Hands-on demonstrations, trips to local farms, and field activities at the Urban Horticulture Center and the Dining Services Farm at Kentland Farm.

This course is open to all majors in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

Alex Hessler; Instructor
hessler@vt.edu

HORTICULTURE DEPARTMENT